Dear Editor-in-Chief,

I am pleased to submit an original research manuscript entitled, “[Title of Your Manuscript]” for consideration for publication in IMRJ. We believe that our findings, which focus on [a brief summary of your main research focus and findings], will be of interest to your readers and add valuable insights to the field of [journal’s field of research].

In our study, we [summarize briefly what you did and the relevance of your results]. These findings contribute to [explain why this is important for the field, current applications, or future research]. Our work aligns well with IMRJ mission of publishing impactful research on [relevant subjects mentioned in the journal’s scope].

This manuscript has not been published elsewhere, nor is it under consideration by any other publication. We confirm that all co-authors have approved the manuscript and agree with its submission to IMRJ.

We have provided a list of potential reviewers who we feel are well-suited to evaluate our work, as they possess expertise in [mention related areas]. If appropriate, please find their contact information included in our submission.

Thank you for considering this manuscript. We look forward to the possibility of contributing to IMRJ and are open to any revisions or suggestions necessary to make this work suitable for your readership.

Please contact me at [your email address] should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

[Your Full Name, Degree if applicable (e.g., Ph.D., M.D.)]
